REACH THE SPOT.

To cure an aching back. The pains of rheumatism, The tired-out feelings, You must reach the spot—get at the cause.

In most cases 'tis the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys.

Charles Bierbach, stone contractor, living at 2325 Chestnut St., Erie, Pa., says: "For two years I had kidney trouble, and there was such a severe pain through my joints and limbs that I could not stop or straighten up without great pain, had difficulty in getting about and was unable to rest at night, arising in the morning tired and worn out. The kidney secretions were irregular and deposited a heavy sediment. Doctors treated me for rheumatism, but failed to help me. I lost all confidence in medicine, but Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me so quickly and so thoroughly that I gladly made a statement to that effect for publication. This was in 1898, and during the six years which have elapsed I have never known Doan's Kidney Pills to fail."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Bierbach will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address: Postmaster, Doan's Kidney Pills, N. Y. For sale by all druggists; price, 50 cents per box.

Jack Harkaway's Schooldays

By BRACEBRIDGE HEMYNG

"I can't help it," answered Jack. "There is a fatality about me. Everything I do is wrong, and I am sure to get into rows somehow, whether I deserve it or not."

"What will you do now? Write to Emily?"

"No. They have done their worst. I shall simply defy the whole school, and the masters included. I shall write to Emily. If Maple's money has really been stolen, the thief will be found out some day."

"I don't think it has."

"Don't you? That view of the question never occurred to me before."

"I think he did it out of revenge, and Hunston senior backed him up in it."

"I'll make it my business to find out. But of this I am certain, God never allows a wicked action to pass undisturbed. If they have done me this great wrong, it will all come home to them."

"Won't you feel wretched at being cheated and hissed?"

"They don't try to do it here, because they are afraid of me. Let me catch them at it. I'd fight any half dozen of them—one down and the other come on," replied Jack fiercely.

"They had not gone far before they met Collinson, and they were passing by without speaking when the captain of the school said:

"Oh, Harkaway, I want a word with you. At this time of the year, February, we always start our paper chase. I think I spoke to you about it last week."

"Will you lead one for us?"

"I might steal your paper," answered Jack sarcastically.

"Don't chaff," replied Collinson. "If you were guilty, it does not follow that you are always to be taunted with it, and as you and Harvey are two of the best runners in the school and the longest winded, and you know the country pretty well, we want you to lead us a good chase. Will you do it?"

"I don't mind," replied Jack. "But if you have such a bad opinion of me as to think I stole."

"We won't talk about that. I believe you to be innocent—I do indeed—but appearances were against you."

"Thank you for that," said Jack warmly. "I'll lead your paper chase now. You will all find out your mistake some day."

"I hope sincerely we will. Then I'll tell the fellows that you and Harvey will lead the chase."

"With pleasure."

They separated, and Jack said to Harvey: "Collinson is a stunner. He sets a good example to the school. We shall get another captain like him when he's gone."

"He leaves next half."

"Yes, I know, to go to Oxford."

"Have you ever led a paper chase before?" asked Harvey.

"No, but I know all about it, as I have heard the fellows talk."

"I've been here longer than you, and we had several beatings last year. I have been all about for miles round, and the best way is to go as the birds fly and take all the ditches one comes to."

"Have you got any bags to put the paper in?"

"Yes, and I have some paper left over from last year. We must get all the old papers and books we can find to tear up, for I mean to give them a winter this time. Collinson knows I am the best runner in the school and always had the best chance, and he also knows that I wouldn't go without you, which—"

"Accounts for his asking me to lead," said Jack.

"Never mind. I don't have any of them. I dare say I should behave as they have done if circumstances had been different. Let's go and get the paper ready."

And they went together to the schoolroom, where Harvey found his bags. They soon began to fill them with paper, which they tore into little bits.

Each boy who led was accustomed to carry two bags, one slung over each shoulder. In starting they had a quarter of an hour's grace allowed them—that is to say, the head of the following party, or the hounds, took out his bag as they were called, and the hounds counted fifteen minutes. They all ran in their track quickly. The leaders dropped bits of paper in the road and the fields as they went to show the direction they had taken. If they jumped or swam or plunged through a brook, of which there were plenty in Hertfordshire, they left paper on each side so that the hounds or followers could plainly see which way they had gone, though they were far away and out of sight.

The object of the chase was to catch the hares before they could get home again, and there were many good runners in the school, so that the chase was always an interesting feature in the outdoor amusements of the boys. Two better or stronger or swifter hares than Jack and Harvey could not have been selected.

CHAPTER XXV.

THE occasion chosen for the hare and hounds, or paper chase, was a half holiday. Dinner was over at a quarter to 2, and at half past the hares started. The boys seemed to have forgotten Jack's conviction for the supposed stealing of Maple's money, for they gave him a cheer when he set off at a good, swinging jog trot, elbows well in his sides, back bent and head thrown a little forward, with Harvey on his left hand.

"Thin and wiry, Harvey was a splendid runner, and when he boasted that he did not think the hounds could catch him he was not bragging idly."

Perhaps Collinson's sensible conduct in picking out Jack to lead the chase had some effect on the boys. He had by his generous behavior done much to remove the prejudice existing against Jack, which was fostered in every way by Maple and even two Hunstons.

Low Rate Excursion. To California and the Lewis and Clark Exposition.

The personally conducted excursion to the Pacific Coast via the Grand Trunk Railway System, to start July 5, bids fair to be an unqualified success. Every arrangement in connection with this excursion has been to the end that the one hundred and twenty-five people who take the trip may enjoy the pleasantest tour of their lives.

The route is one of the most attractive on the American continent, the rates are the lowest ever named from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and the details looking to the convenience and pleasure of the members of the party have had the most careful consideration. In short, everything considered, this tour affords any who desire to visit the Far West, the opportunity of a lifetime. Any who anticipate joining the July 5 party, should make their reservations at once, as all details must be closed within the next few days.

A second party will start on Aug. 28. Bookings for this one are coming in rapidly and any desiring to secure accommodations must apply soon.

Each party will be personally conducted by E. C. Bowler of Bethel, Me., from whom full information may be obtained.

A Maine Man Suggested.

Melville E. Ingalls of Cincinnati, O., who was prominently mentioned as the possible head of the Equitable Life Assurance society, is a native of Maine, having been born in Harrison, Sept. 6, 1842, and is now 63 years old, rigorous and active.

His inheritance was the poverty and hard work of a poor man's son on a stony farm. His first earnings were $11 per month as a country school teacher, which he saved in order to buy books and go to Burlington academy. Later he managed to get to Boston, where he entered Harvard Law school, sleeping at night in the office of a friendly lawyer and eating in cheap restaurants.

Mr. Ingalls began his law practice in the little town of Gray, but later moved to Boston, where he achieved success, and was considered a rising young lawyer. He dabbled in politics, and went to the State senate for one term. Since then politics has been a fascination, but nothing more for him.

Like Chauncey M. Depew, Mr. Ingalls stepped from his law office into the presidency of a railroad. Some of the Boston clients were stockholders in the Indianapolis, Cincinnati & Lafayette railway, which became bankrupt. They sent Mr. Ingalls to Cincinnati as receiver and he made such a success that upon reorganization of the property he was elected president. That small road became later part of the Big Four system, of which Mr. Ingalls was president for many years.

Last January he retired from active management and took the position of chairman of the board of directors. Like Mr. Depew, he is a representative of the Vanderbilt family which controls the Big Four.

In politics he is a sound-money Democrat. He was Democratic candidate for mayor of Cincinnati in 1903, but was defeated. That was the first direct participation in politics since his Boston days. Had he been successful there was some talk of making him the governor of Ohio and then democratic candidate for president.

In speeches he has favored franchise and income taxes. In business life he has always been approachable and courteous to all. On his office door for years years was the sign, "Don't knock; come in."

His greatest coup as railway president was the formation of the Joint Traffic Association in which most of the railways east of the Mississippi were pooled. The Supreme Court of the United States broke up this pool by a decision.

Mr. Ingalls has four grown sons and one daughter. He has acquired much wealth. Cincinnati is his home, but he spends much time at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York.

Mrs. Myra Lord visited at A. and L. C. Lord's, Monday and Tuesday. Norrene Lord returned with her.

The little son of Olaf Mason, who was run over by a cart of sawdust, is doing finely, no bones being broken.

One of Frank Watson's colts, which was being pastured in the Balaban pasture, was found dead, recently, supposed to have been hooked by cattle.

Not a large crowd at the Grange, the 3rd. The Master not being present, Thomas McIntire was called to the chair. Clippings were read by all and readings given by Sister Alma McIntire, Sec'y.

NOW IS THE TIME FOR HYOMEL.

Far Easier to Cure Catarrh Now Than at Any Other Season.

Now is the time to use Hyomel, when the early summer days make it so easy to cure catarrhal troubles. The Hyomel treatment, breathed for a few minutes three or four times a day in May or June, will do four times as much as it would do in January, and nearly as much as it would do in the winter, when it is a purely vegetable preparation whose active curative properties are given off when it is breathed by the aid of the pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit.

It destroys all germ life in the passages, purifies the blood by supplying additional ozone, and its healing, volatile, antiseptic fragrance reaches every corner of the respiratory tract as no medicine taken through the stomach can possibly do.

The complete Hyomel outfit costs but one dollar, and consists of a neat inhaler or vest that can be carried in the purse or pocket and will last a lifetime. Extra bottles of Hyomel can be procured, if desired, for fifty cents.

At this season of the year when catarrhal troubles can be so quickly and readily cured, the merits of the Hyomel treatment should be carefully investigated by everyone and a complete outfit should be in every home. Noyes Drug Store give their personal guarantee with every Hyomel outfit they sell to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction. There is no risk whatever to the purchaser of Hyomel.

A Midnight Confidence.

I am a Norway steer. And I love the lake. A biting dunder and common folks. In manner I will relate. Today I'm full of English blood. To-morrow every vein May not be of the richest blood. That ever came from Spain. Sometimes I take a mixture, But I find it does not pay. Unless I wish to suffer pain. For many an anxious day. For I have found that when I've hit A Briton and a Celt, I'm pretty sure to suffer. In the region of my belt. And when a Russian I have nipped, Of days I do keep free, I do want a battle field, Down in the midst of me. From which I think 'tis evident, While seeming free from care, I have to keep a watchful eye Upon any bill of fare. And that is why I stick by you, My friend, the live long night, I'm doing, and if I may I'll have another bite. HATTIE A. SMALL. Norway, Me.

The Farmer soon will hoe each Rowe Of Beans, while Fields of Millet, Will fill his Barnes and Sheds so full, I wonder they don't spill it. The man who Hayes Loads Weeks each year, Or in the cow line labors, Or raises corn upon the Cob, These do we want for neighbors. The Carpenters who build our Homes, Each Whitehouse, Hall and Tower The Masons who on brick and stone Toil many a weary hour. The busy Miller in his Mills, The Baker, half-baked, broiling, The Smith who tinkers Locks that Rust, The Cooper ever tolling, Each is as worthy of respect, As Abbott old or Palmer, Each Taylor, Plumber, Fisher-man, Are Knights without the armor. But off a swain with jocular Noyes Starts off with Gull and Bitter, And proves o'er Health and Hill and Dale, A Swift and valiant Walker. Keen-eyed, with heart of Flint, he Bangs At anything in motion. At Buck or Fox or Bird or Mann And makes a commotion. Sometimes, a Hutter joins the Chase For Robbing, Drake or Partridge, An Angel with wild form beaute, Trapped out with gun and cartridge. These Bonney mads dislike to Cook And wash tubs give them, Fine Tho' Gray eyes wear a Smiley look, They're minus heart and brain, It's true, we don't admire such Stiles, We reckon them with arson, Tho' Cherry lips are wreathed in smiles To charm the best of Parsons. In Maine Wood, numerous Ripley Brooks Mid Tufts of Reeds and Rushes, Flow on like Jordan's stormy Flood, Twice tilled rippled Elder bushes; Here Merry Little Children play, And make each Greenleaf Russell, Here Small Young creatures Lovejoy, aye, Grow Strong for life's Dyer tussle. Pray have you heard Howe Ginn one time On Denisons made Fuller, Rich and Poor and French all signed The pledge? It was a puller. The boys would turner way in Fitz If anyone said "Sawyer" Or hint they'd Needham in the Pitts, Say, that was Gammum for yet. Why Harger way one Marshall forth Past scenes that Moore than Bumpus? Forget Stearns circumstances gone Beyond the present company, And Hale as Prince each son of toil Or when a Black or Freeman, The Gardner delving in the soil, The Chandler, Porter, seaman— Each man, a Lord of Industry, Who raises Lamb or Bacon, Whose Chicks will Hatch as counted on, Whose Hox is never shaven, Whose Cow grow like a Silver Horse, Who fill his fertile Aker; Such Sells are blessings to the Towne, And let no one mistake us. Whooping Cough.

This is a very dangerous disease unless properly treated. Statistics show that there are more deaths from it than from scarlet fever. All danger may be avoided, however, by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It liquefies the tough mucus, making it easier to expectorate, keeps the cough loose, and makes the paroxysms of coughing less frequent and less severe. It has been used in many epidemics of this disease with perfect success. For sale by Noyes Drug Store, Norway, Shurtleff's, South and West Paris.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running ear, which is usually attended with itching of the ear, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; hence, if you are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces, We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. WHERE DISEASE GERMS BREED.

No Need to Fear "Germs" if the Stomach Be Healthy.

The ideal breeding place for disease germs is a weak stomach and digestive system. The food, instead of being assimilated, turns into a sour, slimy, fermenting mass, causing gases, distress after eating, bloating, nausea and flatulency. The poisonous germs that are given off from this undigested food enter the blood, and pimples, boils, and blotched skin is the result. Nervousness and sleeplessness come more often from weakened digestion than from any other cause. Rheumatism and gout are directly caused by an acid condition of the stomach. No ordinary food digestive can give lasting relief. It is absolutely necessary if one wishes to be well to use Mi-o-na, the only known remedy that soothes and heals the mucous membrane of the stomach and digestive tract, stimulates the solar plexus, and strengthens the nerves of the stomach. This remarkable remedy puts the whole digestive system in so healthy, clean and sweet a state that fermentation of the food cannot exist, any disease germs in the stomach will be destroyed, and all food will be so well assimilated that a rapid and healthy increase in weight will quickly result. Mi-o-na is a guaranteed cure for all diseases of the stomach, excepting cancer, a guarantee being given by Noyes Drug Store with every package they sell, agreeing to refund the money should the remedy not give perfect satisfaction.

A good shingle stain is economical for it fills the pores of the shingles with oil, prevents the water from soaking in, and makes them last much longer. HARRISON.

Centennial, Thursday, Aug. 3.

The Harrison centennial committee held a very important meeting on the 8th. S. C. Smith, Esq., tendered his resignation as a member of the committee and Victor L. Jordan was chosen to fill the vacancy. It was voted that the centennial celebration be held on Thursday, Aug. 3, and the field near Crystal Lake was chosen for the exercises. Considerable discussion in regard to the dinner followed, and it was voted to amend the original vote to some extent, but the matter does not seem entirely satisfactory to all concerned, and further amendment will probably be made at the adjourned meeting.

It was voted that the treasurer be authorized and requested to give notice to all subscribers to the centennial fund that they were requested to pay on a date not later than June 30. The following committees were then selected:

Invitations—Howard L. Sampson, Alphonso Moulton, Almore Haskell.
Reception—George H. Box, Geo. H. Cummings, C. Sumner Whitney, Mrs. Lizzie A. Donnelly.
Refreshments and Entertainment—Dr. James P. Blake, Clarence B. Caswell, N. H. Seavey, Mrs. Anna Dudley, Mrs. Nellie Keene, Mrs. Wm. H. Briggs, Mrs. J. W. Foster, and the committee on members to twenty, if they so desired.

Decorations—Joseph Pines, Mrs. Denison, Victor L. Jordan, Quincy M. Chute, Mrs. Lena Stone, Charles F. Ricker, David Kneeland.

There was some discussion in regard to a procession, and other details of the exercises on Celebration day, but no action was taken. The committee on exercises will probably make its preliminary report at the adjourned meeting, when further action will be taken, if it is deemed desirable. The meeting adjourned to meet at Odd Fellows's Banquet hall on Friday, June 30, at two o'clock p. m., and a full attendance of the members and all others interested, is desired at that time.

George P. Carsley is engaged in putting in a new supply of water.

The infant child of James Thomes died last Wednesday, having been ill ever since his birth.

B. W. Harmon has a small crew of men in the woods peeling hemlock, on his farm in the center of the town.

Albert Cummings, who has been in poor health for several months, is better, but unable to do any work, except chores about the barn.

Chester Tarbox has leased the Elm House stable, and will carry on the livery business during the summer, and if the business is sufficient to warrant it, will make it permanent.

Mrs. Quincy Chute has been absent from home several weeks, staying with her sick daughter, Mrs. Coy of Oxford. Mrs. Coy has so far recovered that her mother returned home last Friday.

Report has been current that Camp Kineo, at Cape Monday, was not to be opened this season, but word has just been received from the proprietor Frank Sears, that it will be opened June 22.

Joseph Pitts has bought a lot of timber of Albion Carsley, on his farm in South Harrison, and has a crew of men peeling hemlock, of which he estimates that there will be 300,000. There is also quite an amount of spruce and pine.

James Thomes is doing an extensive job moving his barn, and building a cellar under it. The barn, which is a large one, will be moved back 100 feet, and a cellar made under the whole of it. The space left between the barn and the other out-buildings will be filled by an extension of the present building.

The telephone company has been engaged during the past week in changing over and extending a short piece of its line, so as to connect it with the present residence of B. W. Harmon. This company (Bolster's Mills Tel. & Tel. Co.), is now operating about 90 instruments, and there is a constant call for more.

It seems that Harrison is not to have the steamers from the Sebago Lake route this season, the water being so low that they cannot run. One boat is to run from North Bridgton to Naples, and passengers for that place will come by rail to the first named station. This means quite a loss to the steamboat company, as the business that will be done will be very small.

A new secret society has just been started at Bolster's Mills. It is known as the Coming Men of America, and is composed of young over 14 years of age. The lodge was started with six charter members, and J. Earle Warren is at the head of it. The order is designed to furnish a place where the young men can be entertained, and to so instruct them that they will make good citizens.

Lakeside Grange has resumed work on its hall, there having been a short stop on account of weather, and in order to give time for the saving of some of the lumber. The sills, and the floor timbers for the lower floor are now in place, the stone work having been completed before work was begun on the frame. Oscar V. Lewis is at the head of the crew, and the work will be pushed forward with all possible dispatch.

A gentleman named Brooks from Massachusetts has purchased the Crystal Lake cottage and farm, and it is understood that a large summer hotel will be erected on the site of the present building, so as to be in readiness for business next season. The property is now occupied by John C. Egerly, and his lease does not expire until the close of the present year. Mr. Brooks is said to be an experienced hotel man, who has been running a large winter hotel in the Bermudas. It looks very much as if this purchase means considerable for the future of Harrison village.

John E. Wentworth, son of John S. Wentworth, has had the honor of having his portrait appear in the Boston Globe in connection with an article commendatory of him. The occasion was the awarding of the grand prize at the Boston University of Law for the best thesis on the subject assigned. He competed with about 100 fellow students, and his essay was so meritorious that it is to be published, and placed in the library of the university for reference. Mr. Wentworth has completed the course at the University in the shortest possible time, and received the highest degree for the year, in each study. The article in the Globe stated that he was to begin the practice of law in Maine, but did not mention the name of the town.

Oscar Bell of Egan, South Dakota, was in town last week visiting friends and relatives. Mr. Bell left his home in Waterford 27 years ago, and took up his residence in Dakota, and has made only two short trips to his former home during the time. He had but a limited amount of money when he left home, but is now a prosperous farmer, although his path has not been altogether a smooth one, his wife having died after a long and severe sickness, and one daughter having been very sick for a long time. Mr. Bell put in his crops before he left home, comprising 65 acres of oats, 27 acres of corn, and a large acreage of other crops. The tax on his Dakota is 15 mills on the dollar, and Mr. Bell pays a tax of about $90. He expects to return during the last week in June.

Ray Whitney arrived home from Portland on Saturday.

Mildred Dudley has gone to Augusta, where she is employed by a publishing firm.

Frank Ricker has purchased of Mrs. Maria Ricker the two-story house now occupied by Mrs. Myra Patrick and F. Garland.

Anna Smith, Nellie Plummer, Emma Kilborne and Nellie Twitchell attended the Congressional conference at Hiram Thursday and Friday of last week. They were pleasantly entertained at Mountain View Farm.

Mrs. W. L. Davis received a visit last week from her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Helen W. Davis, of Deerburg. Mrs. Davis is proprietor of Greeley Institute at Cumberland Center. Percy Bailey and wife from Portland are visiting friends in town. Anna Dudley visited Mrs. Eugene Dudley at Waterford, last Friday.

There is an opportunity to hear some good music Tuesday night. The Schuylard Quartet, consisting of four persons, which is to furnish music for Commencement exercises at Bridgton Academy on Wednesday, give a concert at Harrison Town Hall, assisted by May Jordan of Bridgton. A social dance follows the concert.

Percy Cole of Pennsylvania and Blanche Cole of Boston came home this week for their summer vacation. Mr. Cole is an old-timer on the diamond, and his presence will probably add interest to the always interesting game between the undergrads and the alumni, following the B. A. Commencement exercises.

BUCKFIELD.

A Serious Reminder.

That Sturgis commission reminds me of a co-worker in carpentry in days of apprenticeship and that was more than fifty years ago. He was overalls to his knees, then an apron to save his overalls.

"The sound of the grinding is low"
The powers have forsaken the still;
And grinders are happy to know
There's freedom in slipping their will.
That holy commission—a farce—
The grinders are happy to know
If their deeds are but feeble and scarce.
In all but presenting—their bill.

Ten young men went from here Saturday to Four Ponds.

A. W. Horton, S. N. Buck and daughter, Gladys of Norway were in town Saturday.

Fred Atwood and daughter, Mrs. Lyon and child of Rumford Falls have recently visited friends here.

The florist, John Lewis Childs of Floral Park, N. Y., visited his brother, A. S. C., last week. They are at the Lakes now.

Carlton Gardner is ill, as a man of a necessity must be with carbuncles on his neck. Mrs. Gardner has somewhat improved.

Dana Harlow, well-known to ADVERTISER readers in former times, reported to have died in Massachusetts, has been in town looking hale and hearty.

The foundation of the Methodist church having been in bad condition for some time, Mr. J. C. Conner, contractor, from Auburn, was called Saturday to estimate the expense of repairs.

Mrs. Amanda Shaw is visiting Canton Point, her childhood home, ere she goes to make her home in Massachusetts. She was a daughter of Cornelius Holland, a noted physician in the long ago.

Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Cole went to Portland last week with a child for medical treatment. An operation was performed for an affection of serious nature. Indications are hoped to be favorable. They returned home Saturday.

Percy Nevers umpired the game and certainly the home team got their share of close decisions.

Mrs. Emma Crockett.
Mrs. Emma Crockett, widow of Fred Crockett, died at the Maine General Hospital in Portland, Friday, June 2nd.
She went to the hospital on Monday,
May 23, where she underwent a most critical operation, which her much impaired constitution was not able to withstand.
Mrs. Crockett was one of the ten children of Asa and Frances Emerson. She was born in Bridgton Valley, March 19, 1833. On January 29, 1884, she was united in marriage to Fred Crockett of Paris, whose death occurred about two years ago.

The deceased was survived of the immediate family by an adopted daughter, Isabelle Crockett, four brothers and one sister. Her aged mother, now in her 82nd year, also survives. Since the death of her husband she has made her home with her sister, Mrs. Webster Warren in Haverhill, Mass., and with her brother James, in the Valley, having come to the home of the latter last November, where she has been tenderly cared for during her period of illness.
Mrs. Crockett had been a sufferer for many years, having undergone treatment
at the hospital no less than seven times.
Notwithstanding this, however, she bore
her troubles with uncomplaining Christian fortitude. Early in life she was converted and became a member of the Methodist church at Norway, where as long as she lived in that region she was a constant and a regular attendant.
The funeral services were held at the home of her brother James, in the Valley, June 14. Burial will be made in the Methodist cemetery at Bridgton. The interment was by the side of her husband in the family yard. There was a profusion of floral tributes.

Henry O. Holden has been having erysipelas in his face.
S. H. Walcott has gone on a visit to his old home in Union.
This is what the State papers are publishing: Co. D, of the 1st Infantry, N. G. S., Me., Norway, which led the state in rifle practice last year, has started out to repeat the trick this year. The season for range practice opened May 1st, and Co. D's return for the month has already been received, getting to headquarters ahead of all others. It shows that 15 men of the company have already been on the range, one of whom has already completed his qualification for the highest grade—that of expert. Fourteen are already qualified as marksmen, and two
as first-class men.

Devoe Outwore Two Others.
Here's a 15-year yarn; you like yarns,
don't you? It comes from Odell Har-dare Co., Greensboro, N. C.
Mr. R. G. Glenn's house in that town,
was painted Devoe about 15 years ago,
and next, this year.
A house, next-door, was painted about the same time with another paint, supposed to be good. This house was painted again about 5 years ago with still another paint, that professor to be extraordinary.
Glenn's house, before it was painted just now, was in good condition at that time. Devoe 15 years; the other 5 years—guess that's about how to put it.
But this extraordinary paint is a bluff;
Devoe is the paint.

An Androsoggin Drive.

Something About the Men and the Work
Among the lines of the working class
there is hardly another so interesting as that of the river drivers who keep in motion the vast amount of timber that is to supply the saw and pulp mills along the stream. From the first starting of the logs until the final booming at the end of the journey the men work from dawn
until dark keeping the logs from jamming, sluicing them over dams and incurring all manner of hardships and dangers.

As a general rule camps are made at different points along the river where sluicing is to be done or at a particularly difficult place where there is likelihood of a jam. The men start to work at about four or four-thirty o'clock in the morning and it is a clear case, in most instances, at least, of work and work hard from that time until eight o'clock
at night.

The meal hours are generally arranged
at nine in the forenoon, two in the afternoon and eight in the evening. When the men finish their work they are ready to crawl into their bunks and enjoy the rest that comes only to those who do hard work out-of-doors.

As a class of men one would look a long while before finding a more lary or healthier lot. The food is good and the healthful and the out-of-door life not only gives an abundant appetite, but hardens the constitutions of the men so that the hardships of the work are not minded and the muscles do their work
under almost any conditions.

The blowing up of a bad jam of logs is one of the most interesting as well as dangerous features of log-driving. The man placing the charge must know at what point the jam will be the most easily moved and then he must place the log that is holding the drive back. It would seem to an ordinary observer that it is a simple matter to do the work of a river driver,
but to be a success in this work a man must have endurance, be quick on his feet and have unerring judgement in handling himself in a crisis.

The present drive in the Androsoggin
is owned by the International Paper Company and is on its way from the lake region where it was cut during the winter season to the company's mill at Rumford Falls. Owing to the low water in the river throughout the spring the progress of the drive has necessarily been slow although no bad jams have hindered as yet. About 100 to 125 men are employed in the crew that are handling the drive.

The estimate of the amount of lumber
in the drive is about 40,000,000 feet and the distance covered from the lake region to Rumford Falls is about 100 miles
as the drive runs.

The drive that was boomed near the Cascades was driven out about four weeks ago, making a quick and satisfactory trip to its destination at Rumford Falls.

The annual examination of candidates
for state certificates will be held Friday, August 25.

be examined are reading, writing, spelling, arithmetic, geography, English grammar, U. S. history, physiology and hygiene, elementary science of nature studies, civil government, theory and practice of teaching, and school law.

A Chance to save Money.
There is not the slightest reason why
you should not feel well and strong.
That great offer of Dr. Greene's is proving the best friend that weak and delicate people ever had. A letter sent to him at his office, 34 Temple Place, Boston, Mass., telling the symptoms you are suffering from, will be immediately answered by the Doctor, describing your complaint minutely, and making you understand perfectly just what ails you.
And all this costs you nothing. You don't have to leave your home and you don't have to pay any doctor's fee to learn exactly what your complaint is,
and how to get well and strong, from Dr. Greene, the greatest living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases.
The Doctor makes a specialty of curing patients through his great system of letter correspondence, and is having wonderful success. Thousands of weak, delicate men and women are writing him about their complaints, and are being permanently cured. It is well known that world-renowned curative, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Write the Doctor at once and see what he says about your complaint.
It will probably be the means of your getting back your health.

Nervous Women

Their Sufferings Are Usually
Due to Uterine Disorders
Perhaps Unsuspected

A MEDICINE THAT CURES

Can we dispute
the well-known fact that American
women are nervous?
How often do we hear the expression, "I am so nervous, it seems as if I should fly;" or,
"Don't speak to me!" Little things annoy you and
make you irritable; you can't sleep,
you are unable to quietly and calmly perform your daily tasks or care for your children.

The relation of the nerves and generative organs in women is so close that nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous debility, the blues, sleeplessness and nervous irritability arise from some derangement of the organism which makes her a woman.
Irritability, spirits easily affected, so that one minute she laughs, the next minute weeps. Pain in the ovaries and between the shoulders. Loss of voice;
nervous dyspepsia. A tendency to cry at the least provocation. All this points to nervous prostration.

Nothing will relieve this distressing condition and prevent months of prostration and suffering so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. M. E. Shotwell, of 103 Flatbush
Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:
"I cannot express the wonderful relief I have experienced by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered for a long time with nervous prostration, backache, headache, loss of appetite. I could not walk and would walk the floor almost every night."

"I had three doctors and got no better,
and I was a burden to my family. I was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has worked wonders for me."
"I am a well woman, my nervousness is all gone, and my friends say I look ten years younger."

Will not the volumes of letters from women made strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound convince all women of its virtues? Surely you cannot wish to remain sick and weak
and discouraged, exhausted each day,
when you can be as easily cured as other women.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood. It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold by its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

FRYEBURG.

A Two Fold Celebration.

The new church hall was the scene of a delightful gathering on Saturday evening, June 3. It was the occasion of the twofold celebration of the 25th anniversary of the New Jerusalem church and the silver wedding of the pastor and his wife, Rev. Baman N. Stone and Mrs. Emily (Farrington) Stone. Thirty-one years ago last May, Rev. Mr. Stone was settled as pastor over the Congregational church in Fryeburg. He remained in charge of this society for three years, and then became a New churchman. After his change of faith, he preached in the New Jerusalem church in Portland for one month to the great acceptance of its congregation. Then, in response to the call of many of his former people, he returned to Fryeburg. On Sunday, June 3d, 1879, 28 years ago, he preached his first sermon as pastor of the New Jerusalem church. He has attended during these thirty-one years, 629 funerals and solemnized 251 marriages.

Rev. Mr. Stone, who is a graduate of Amherst college and Bangor Theological seminary, was for many years superintendent of the public schools in town, and for the past two years, he had also been a professor in the New Church Theological school at Cambridge, Mass., where he spends every other week during the school year.

Mrs. Stone was formerly a teacher, and while still retaining an interest in education, is very active in the work of the church and its Sunday school, and also in the Fryeburg Woman's Library Club.

Rev. and Mrs. Stone were married on June 3, 1830, at the home of Marshall Gordon in South Boston, by Rev. Abel Silver, pastor of the New Jerusalem church, Roxbury, Mass. The only member of the Fryeburg society, who was present on that occasion was Olive J. Swann. She was also present at the silver wedding. After a short bridal trip, they returned to Fryeburg, where they have ever since resided.

At this silver wedding there were no exercises, but an informal reception was given to Mr. and Mrs. Stone by their friends. They were presented with a silver casket containing $27 in silver. The presentation address in behalf of the donors, was made by Mary E. Warren, to which Rev. Mr. Stone responded in an impressive manner. A beautiful wedding cake from George Shaw's, Portland, the gift of friends, was presented by Mrs. W. B. Bradley. Gifts of silver, a painting, etc., were also received. Everything was a complete surprise to the recipients.
